

Hi my name is Keila and I am seventeen years old. I was raised with no father. My mother was the only one there for me even though I put her through alot. I was hard headed as I was growing up but I have learned from my mistakes. Now that I have matured and separated the man from the child I plan to make my mother proud. My goal is to get my G.E.D. and then go on to collage and get a clothe designing career. I chose that because I am a real good artist and I always got ideas in my head on how and what to design. The only thing that is holding me back from my goal is that I am in need of G.E.D. money, but most of all support. You see when I was out with my family, everthing they gave me I took for granted. Things like their money, my necessities, but most of all their love. I did not really care at the time and I did not realize that I was hurting more than my family. I was hurting myself. The reason for this was because I was burning my bridges. Now that I am away from my family I realize now how much I need them more then ever to fufill my dreams in getting my G.E.D., going to collage and get a career in clothing design, but like I mentioned earlier I am in need of a funding for my G.E.D.

I just want to come to you with a humble heart and ask that you please help me with the funding for my B.E.D. I know God has a purpose for me in life, and he is teaching me to have faith in others for help with a humble heart. I want to end this letter with a thank you from the heart and God bless you.

To whom it may concern,
